Why North End Teleservices partners with Bellevue University to offer valuable education services.

“We began our partnership with Bellevue University to increase employee engagement, offer educational opportunities as a benefit, and create a more well-rounded workforce.

Employees enjoy having the benefit of tuition assistance, and they like that their family members can also take advantage of it. In turn, we benefit from our employees bringing their classroom insights into the workplace in real-time, greatly shaping their journeys to becoming leaders in our organization – and the community.

At North End Teleservices, employee development is a cornerstone of our workplace culture. We believe in not just giving people jobs but helping them grow in their careers. Our people, their education, life challenges, and their journeys of personal improvement is critical to our business and Bellevue University helps us to help the whole person.”
